

Good Teaching in Big Classes: Wednesday 18 April, 10am-12pm, Fisher & Paykel Appliances Auditorium (F&PAA), Owen G. Glenn Building

Teaching large classes can be a thrilling or a frightening experience for lecturers. How can you ensure that all students in a large class remain engaged, what are the best classroom technologies available, and how can you use them? We invite you to the Fisher and Paykel Appliances Auditorium (F&PAA), Owen G. Glenn Building, to participate in a panel presentation, featuring teaching excellence award winning lecturers. Each presenter will give advice, guidance and tips to maximise your effectiveness as a large class teacher. There will also be an opportunity to familiarise yourself with the new technologies, and to put questions to the experts.

Programme

- 10.00 am Welcome and morning tea followed by an opportunity to explore the technology in the new theatre
- 10.30 am First speaker: Amanda Harper, School of Biological Sciences
- 11.00 am Second speaker: Peter Devonshire, Faculty of Law
- 11.30 am Third speaker: Peter Mellow, CEPD at AUT
- 12.00 pm Thanks to the speakers and further opportunity to ask questions and explore the venue

Book through CAD Reception: cadreception@auckland.ac.nz or phone 3737599 ext 88140